Newsletter of Bureau of Police Research and Development, Ministry of Home Affairs, Govt. of India

Hon'ble Home Minister with BPR&D officers & staff during his visit on 49th Foundation Day - 28th August, 2019

From the DG's Desk

I am happy to know that the Special Police Division of the Bureau of Police Research and Development (BPR&D) is going to launch a Quarterly Newsletter. The Bureau of Police Research and Development undertakes a number of initiatives under different Divisions to strengthen policing, Prison Reforms & Correctional Administration, research in policing and capacity building through its own training institutions or through Management Development Programmes (MDPs), VICs and other domestic and foreign courses. These activities are going unnoticed and the outcomes are not reaching the partners of the BPR&D.

I am sure with the publication of the BPR&D Newsletter, the BPR&D will be able to capture all the activities undertaken, on a quarterly basis, and will be able to keep various police organizations abreast of the work at our end.

I wish all success to this initiative of the Special Police Division!

BPR&D FOUNDATION DAY

28 August, 2019
Mahipalpur, New Delhi

The Bureau of Police Research & Development organized its 49th Foundation Day on the 28 August, 2019, at the BPR&D Headquarters at New Delhi.

Shri Amit Shah, Hon'ble Home Minister of India, graced the function as the Chief Guest and delivered the keynote address in the august presence of the MoS, Home, Shri G. Kishan Reddy, Shri Ajay Kumar Bhalla, Union Home Secretary, and senior serving and retired officers of CAPFs, State Police, Academia, members of Civil Society and NGOs as well as BPR&D officers & staff.

The Hon'ble Home Minister congratulated the past and serving officers of the organization for effectively contributing to research and development and modernization of police forces. He observed that maintaining the relevance of an institution for 50 years is no mean feat, and BPRD has done a commendable job in providing vital inputs for police reforms and training. Shri Amit Shah underlined the fact that maintenance of internal peace and a stable law and order system are essential requirements for achieving Prime Minister's vision of SMART Police. He highlighted the role of a modern and robust police force as essential for development, and the role of BPR&D as a national police think tank.

Before his address, the Hon'ble Home Minister unveiled the "Golden Jubilee Logo" of the BPR&D and also released the latest edition of the "Indian Police Journal", the "Police Vigyan" in Hindi and "Smart Policing" book in Hindi by Dr. Prashant Chaubey, who has been awarded the Govind Vallabh Pant Puraskar. The Home Minister gave away the Union Home Minister's Medals for Excellence in Police Training to Police Trainers from various corners of the country.

Shri G. Kishan Reddy, Minister of State for Home Affairs, also addressed the gathering. He acknowledged the role of police and the grave challenges faced by them and emphasized the need for modernization of Police Forces and in-service specialized and refresher training, given the complexity of crimes and the need to develop domain expertise in policing. He expressed his concern about the safety and security of women and the need for special measures to counter the same. ●
